Owen has an extensive range of legal experience in business, commercial, real estate, and corporate matters.

Among the clients he represents are small family-held businesses, national and international corporations, nonprofit organizations and charitable foundations. His industry experience includes manufacturing, retail, sports, media, entertainment and technology.

Representative transactional matters Owen regularly handles include:

- Real estate sales and acquisitions
- Business mergers, acquisitions and dispositions
- Professional sports matters
- Media and marketing contracts
- International licensing and distribution agreements
- Computer and software sales, acquisition and development agreements
- Secured and unsecured financings

Owen's experience also includes counseling nonprofits on their governance, operational, and investment issues. He has served as a member, officer and/or director of many civic and nonprofit organization committees, task forces, and boards of directors. For almost two decades, Owen and his colleagues at Tonkon Torp have provided pro bono legal services to Albina Head Start, which serves approximately 1,000 children and their families.
