Ron's business law practice emphasizes securities, finance, and corporate acquisitions, and counseling companies through the stages of growth. He has been actively involved in venture capital financings, representing both venture investors and growth-stage companies, and later-stage financings including public offerings. His practice has also focused on the structuring and implementation of management leveraged buyouts, involving both private and publicly held companies.

Examples of some of Ron's recent transactions include:

- $75 million acquisition in an industry consolidation transaction
- Pooling of interests tax-free merger with a public company
- $7 million venture financing for a technology client
- Structuring and representing management in a management buy-out

In addition to his transactional work, Ron advises clients concerning corporate structure, equity-based compensation, regulatory compliance, and financial matters on a regular basis.
